Imagine cycling gear that protects the rider from painful road rash if they crash. Well you don't have to imagine any longer because the team at Drayko have developed Friction cyclewear.

As the world leader in protective clothing for motorcyclists, the company turned its attention to the vulnerable cyclist's skin. The Founder, Grant Mackintosh lost some skin after he hit the deck on a bike ride and he wanted to fix that.

We asked the Founder, Grant, why they created Friction? His response "Because we have skin in the game!"

Engineering the perfect blend of the world's strongest fibres specifically for a bike rider, the ground-breaking gear is called Friction because it prevents painful gravel rash.

Friction incorporates Roomoto™, the company's very own revolutionary fabric, which offers unrivalled safety plus climate control which takes heat and sweat away from the skin and with antibacterial treatment for comfort whilst riding.

Friction is the world's first safety clothing that protects the bike rider's skin and will be helping thousands just like its motorcycle gear.
